STRANGE FATALITY.

A large piece of glass pierced the left side of his neck, severing the jugular vein and causing death in a few minutes. Mr. Smith was twenty-six years of age. His remains were sent to Navasota, his former home.

FORTY-TWO COMMITTEES.

Routine Business Occupied the Constitutional Convention Thursday.

Guthrie, Nov. 23.—Routine business occupied the constitutional convention Thursday. A number of minor officers were named by Chairman Murray, and forty-two working committees were decided upon and specified. The members of the various standing committees will be named by the chairman next Monday.

The Republicans of the constitutional convention, twelve in number, are the recipients of many good-natured jokes at the hands of the ninety-nine Democrats. Under the resolution designating the seats, thirteen in one section of the hall were set aside for the Republicans. Some one inquired what was to become of the independent member from Wynnewood, Rev. F. J. Stowe.

"We provided for thirteen seats in one section," said Mr. Haskell, chairman of the committee to determine the allotment.

"For the Republicans," volunteered Mr. Asp, one of the twelve. "I will say we have no objection to receiving the gentleman from Wynnewood."

"As to the disposition of the gentleman from Wynnewood," retorted Mr. Haskell. "The Democratic party will accept any one who wishes to come into the fold, providing his color is either white or red."

Rev. Mr. Stowe, the member in question, made his race as an independent Democrat, and properly belongs with the Democratic majority.

Delegate J. J. Carl of Bartlesville has presented the constitutional convention with a handsome black walnut gavel, made by an artisan of Indian Territory and of wood grown in the forest of a Delaware Indian. The gavel was used in the first and only Democratic convention ever held in the Fifty-Seventh district (Bartlesville), which is in the old belt of Indian Territory.

DECISION RESERVED.

Thousands Struggled to Hear Case Against Tenor Singer.

New York, Nov. 23.—When the case of Enrico Caruso, the Italian operatic tenor singer, was called in Yorkville police court Friday morning every seat was occupied. He was charged with insulting Mrs. Hannah Graham in monkey house at Central park.

Out in the street nearly 1,000 people struggled unsuccessfully to pass the police line established to hold back the crowd. Inside there was a great bouquet of roses sent to the singer and bearing a card on which was written, "Take it easy, whatever you do. From your friends and people who know you." There was no hissing. Within the door of the courthouse a messenger presented a big bunch of roses to the tenor, but on advice of Mr. Connel he refused to accept them. So far as could be learned before the hearing opened Mrs. Graham, the complaining witness, was not in court. Mr. Mathot said Graham was not the woman's correct name.

Caruso was called and questioned by Deputy Police Commissioner Mathot. "Do you recall being at a reception in a house on Fifth avenue in the vicinity of Thirty-sixth street on Sunday afternoon preceding Thanksgiving last year?"

Caruso did not remember, but would not say he had not been there.

"Do you recall as you were leaving the guest invited you to step into an automobile to conduct you to your hotel and while on your way of your being charged by a lady with having attempted to take certain liberties with her in an automobile?"

Judge Dittenhoefer objected to this question and Magistrate Baker sustained him.

Mathot in his argument against Caruso declared the latter a moral pervert, who should be kept out of decent society. Mr. Mathot said the reason why Mrs. Hannah Graham had not appeared in court was she feared to face the crowd of perverses such as commonly attend such hearings and such a crowd as was then present. The spectators in the courtroom hissed Mathot at this remark. Magistrate Baker reserved his decision.

CAUSE OF COLLISION.

Preliminary Investigation Shows German Vessel Was to Blame.

Cherbourg, France, Nov. 23.—The preliminary investigation made by the captain of this port into the cause of the collision off here between the German steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and the British steamer Orinoco seems to establish the fact that the former vessel should have heeded the Orinoco's signals that she was going to the starboard of the German ship. Second and third class passengers of the German vessel will be forwarded to New York by special steamer.

Nearly Twenty Vessels Also Destroyed on Reefs and Sandbars.

Chatham, N.
